ISSP Background Variables Questionnaire (BVQ)

2010-06-10

(Jonas Edlund, Insa Bechert, Evi Scholz, Markus Quandt for the ISSP DMG)

Introduction

While ISSP module variables change every year due to the actual module topic, there has always been a set of compulsory background variables (BVs) in the ISSP dealing mainly with demographic issues that stays constant over the different modules. These BVs underwent a profound revision in 2009 and 2010. In the "ISSP Background Variables Guidelines" (BVG) this revision is carefully documented. These guidelines provide comprehensive information, such as measurement goals and coding frames.

In the course of the revision the ISSP demographic methods group also compiled the "ISSP Background Variables Questionnaire" (BVQ) that you have at hand right now. This questionnaire proposes a precise wording and order of the ISSP BV questions, which are all formulated in a self-completion format. For ISSP members using non-self-completion interview modes, the necessary changes of question texts, interviewer instructions, and layout should usually be straightforward.

The questionnaire should be seen as a tool for those countries that are free to collect the ISSP BVs as they want. In these countries, the BVQ ideally can be treated the same way as the ISSP module source questionnaire. This approach helps to achieve the highest possible level of comparability for the BVs as well.

Those countries that, for various reasons, are not free to use the question texts as they are proposed here should use the BV-Guidelines document as a reference to ensure that the ISSP BVs are correctly coded from the national variables to the ISSP standards. The BVG contain the same question texts as the BVQ. They may serve to underline the intended meaning of the BVs and therefore still support our efforts of reaching a high level of comparability.[1]

[1] Please note that some compulsory ISSP BVs are not transferred into questions. These BVs are mainly technical ones (see overview below). However, they are mandatory and to be included in the national ISSP data files.

General notes

1. All notes which are not part of the questionnaire and intended only for members (for example, translation notes) are enclosed in pointed, angle brackets <like these>.

2. All the elements in questions which require local adaptation are enclosed in square brackets. These instructions often relate to adding the name of the relevant country. For example, in Sweden "Did you vote in the last [country] national election in [month/year]?" would read "Did you vote in the last Swedish national election in September 2006?"

3. Notes that are important also for the respondent are enclosed in round brackets (like these).

4. In general, if translators have difficulty when translating answer codes, they should focus upon translating the concepts expressed by the codes rather than the precise words used. See the BVG for measurement goals and other guidelines.
